Wilsonart Commercial Flooring Offers New Exact Match Expansion Molding

Exclusive Low-Profile Molding Design Improves Design Aesthetics

TEMPLE, Texas — Wilsonart Commercial Flooring has launched a patent pending Matching Expansion Molding for commercial grade laminate flooring. The new aluminum molding is the first of its type to incorporate decorative strips of Wilsonart Commercial Flooring high pressure laminate which are bonded to the top of the molding enabling it to match the surrounding floor. Unlike other expansion molding products which typically raise the transition between flooring surfaces as much as half-inch, Wilsonart’s new Matching Expansion Molding creates less than .060-inch transition above the floor dramatically improving room aesthetics. The Matching Expansion Molding comes in 8-foot lengths and is immediately available.

“Moldings are an important piece of our commercial flooring business, and the Exact Match Expansion Molding adds a whole new dimension,” says Randy Phillips, National Sales Manager for Wilsonart Commercial Flooring. “For the first time in commercial settings, our customers can have a uniform transition between flooring. They don’t have to look at unattractive transitions that bulge and don’t blend into the surrounding floor.”

Wilsonart Commercial Flooring already offers standard aluminum Step Down, End Cap, Transition and Expansion moldings in 12-foot lengths. The existing moldings are available in bronze, black and clear.

These new Exact Match Expansion Molding products enhance the entire Wilsonart Commercial Flooring design line that features 38 different wood grain designs including traditional oak, cherry and birch patterns to more exotic species such as mahogany, walnut and rosewood. Special order 15.5-inch square tiles are also available in a variety of natural stone looks. All designs also feature Wilsonart's proprietary Tap-N-Lock™ installation technology, which uses two tongue-and-groove joints for extra strength.

Wilsonart Commercial Flooring is a GREENGUARD Indoor Air Quality Certified® product, awarded by the Greenguard Environmental Institute™ of Atlanta, an independent, non-profit organization that oversees the labeling and certification program.
